KELLOGG CREEK

A RESTORED URBAN PUBLIC OPEN SPACE
FOR MILWAUKIE

Kellogg Lake is a dammed creek in Milwaukie, Oregon. Contamination of the lake in the 50s left it polluted, neglected, and disconnected from the community. This project will explore the possibilities for a green, urban public open space after the restoration of Kellogg Creek. It will be integrated into Downtown Milwaukie and the TriMet light rail station (projected to be completed in 2015). Kellogg Creek will be returned to the community once again.
